JESUS HEALING AND HELPING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 8:1-9:34.
GOLDEN TEXT—Himself took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Healing and Helping.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Healing and Helping.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of the Needy.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Meeting Human Needs.

I. Jesus Heals a Leper (8:1-4).

1. The dreadful disease (v. 2).

Leprosy, the most loathsome and hopeless disease known, in the Jewish ritual, was regarded as a symbol of sin. As leprosy was incurable by man, so only the divine physician could cure sin.

2. The leper's faith (v. 2).

His cry was most pitiable, but his faith was strong. He fully believed that Jesus was able, but not certain that He was willing to heal him.

3. Jesus' love (v. 3).

He put forth His hand and touched the leper, bidding the disease depart, and instantly the man was cleansed.

II. Jesus Heals the Centurion's Servant (8:5-13).

1. The disease (v. 6).

The victim of paralysis is helpless and disqualified for service.

2. The centurion's humility (v. 8).

He first sent the Jewish elders and then his friends (Luke 7:3, 6), because he felt his unworthiness. The case of this servant was so grave that his master brushed aside his timidity and personally appealed to Jesus.

3. The centurion's faith (vv. 8, 9).

He believed that if Jesus would but speak the word, his servant would be healed.

4. The wonderful power of Jesus (v. 13).

He did not need even to see the helpless man, but only to speak the word and it was done.

III. Jesus Heals Peter's Mother-in-law (8:14, 15).

She was sick of a fever. Jesus was invited into Peter's home to heal this woman. Upon entering the home He touched the hand of the patient and the fever left her, she arose and ministered unto them.

IV. Jesus Casts Out Demons (8:28-34).

After stilling the tempest, Jesus crossed to the other side of the sea into heathen territory.

1. Met by two men possessed by demons (v. 28).

These men were in a desperate condition (see Mark 5:1-17 and Luke 8:27). So fierce were they that no one could safely pass that way. They wore no raiment and no chains were strong enough to hold them.

2. What they knew about Christ (v. 29).

They knew that He was the Son of God and that He had come to destroy the devil and his work. Among the demons there is no doubt as to the deity of Jesus Christ and as to the judgment to come.

3. Christ's power to deliver from the devil (vv. 30-32).

The demons quailed before Him, not daring to dispute His power.

V. Jesus Heals a Woman With an Issue of Blood (9:20-22).

1. Her helpless condition (v. 20).

She had been a great sufferer for twelve long years, not only from the disease, but at the hands of the physicians (Mark 5:26).

2. Her faith (v. 21).

Her faith was so strong that she believed contact with the Master's garment would secure needed help.

3. Her confession (v. 21, cf. Luke 8:47).

She thought secretly to get the blessing, but Jesus perceived that virtue had gone out from Him, and had her make a public confession.

4. Christ's words of encouragement (v. 22).

He told her that it was her faith, not her touch that saved her.

VI. Jesus Opening the Eyes of Two Blind Men (9:27-31).

1. Their persistence of faith (v. 28).

These poor men had heard of the wonderful works of Jesus and desired to be healed.

2. The intelligence of faith (v. 27).

They cried unto Him as the Son of David, which showed that they recognized Him as the promised Messiah. The prophet had foretold such to be the works of Messiah (Isa. 29:18; 35:5; 42:7).

3. The challenge of faith (v. 28).

In reply to His challenge, they gave Him a definite answer.

4. The triumph of faith (vv. 29, 30).

Their faith brought them into touch with the Lord of life who revealed His power by opening their eyes.

Heroes and Cowards

Great occasions do not make heroes or cowards; they simply unveil them to the eyes of men. Silently and imperceptibly, as we wake or sleep, we grow and wax strong, we grow and wax weak, and at last some crisis shows us what we have become.—Canon Westcott.

Faith

Faith is an almighty thing like the Eternal God Himself; therefore God seeks to prove and try it.—Luther

EVERGREEN

Mrs. J. J. Farrar has been on the sick list lately.

Mrs. Joe Inge remains very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Young.

We are glad to see Mrs. J. R. Connor out again after having measles.

Mrs. D. T. LeFew is visiting Mrs. J. R. Connor.

Mrs. J. W. StClair, of Roanoke, was a visitor at the home of J. R. Lee and Mrs. J. J. Farrar last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Inge, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hamilton, of Roanoke, Mr. and Mrs. Manlates, of Lynchburg, were week-end guests of Mrs. H. W. Glenn.

Miss Ursula Woolridge has returned to her school, after having measles.

Miss Bettie Morris, who has been teaching school here during Miss Woolridge's illness has returned to her home.

Mrs. J. R. Lee, who has been ill for some time, is no better at this writing.

Z. V. Harvey has returned to his work in Lynchburg.

The children of Rev. T. E. Goad, Geoffrey Austin and Jack Baker are out again after having measles. Very few families in the community escaped the epidemic.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. LeGrand were visitors in Lynchburg Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Staples, of Farmville, visited their home people last week.

We are very glad to welcome Mr. Frank Cawthorn's family to our village. They are living over Mr. J. H. Inge's store.

We are wondering if wedding bells will be ringing around here soon.

Mr. Calvin Gunter is a frequent visitor in Lynchburg of late.

Mr. D. T. LeFew, of Colony, was a visitor at the home of J. R. Connor last week.

Miss Madian Lee and Mrs. J. M. Rosser, of Appomattox, spent Tuesday in Phenix.

Mrs. Annie Lee, of Appomattox, spent last Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Lee here.

BENT CREEK

There is quite a lot of sickness in this community.

M. W. Hunter died at his home on February 2nd at 7:30 p. m. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn their loss. His remains were taken to Reedy Springs Church for interment, Rev. Gray L. Ligon conducting the burial services.

Mr. Hunter was a man who had many friends and was noted for his hospitality in his home. He united with Maple Grove Church several years ago and was a member of that church when called to his reward. His disease was cancer of the stomach. He had the very best of medical aid and loving hearts and willing hands were ever ready to do all that could be done, but alas he had to answer when the summons came. The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The death angel also visited the home of John Thomas McCormick on February 2nd at 4 p. m., and took from that home the beloved wife and mother. She had been in bad health for many months with brights disease and heart trouble, yet her death was a shock to those around her. She leaves a husband and six children to mourn their loss. She had been married twice; there were two children by the first marriage —Mrs. C. D. McCormick and Harry Ledbetter and by the last Union there are four—Estelle, Edith, Catherine and William, all of Bent Creek. Burial took place Wednesday, Rev. Gray L. Ligon conducting the services. The pall-bearers were—Lenard, Tea and Clyde McCormick, Raymond and Melvin Jamerson and Johny Childress. The floral designs were beautiful and carried by six ladies, all friends of the family. The service was very impressive and will long be remembered by those present. The heart of the writer goes out to her children in this sad hour, may their loss be her eternal gain and may it be a link to bind them to Heaven.

Mrs. T. P. Childers continues quite ill.

Measles is raging around here. Miss Nell Davis who teaches near the Appomattox line has closed her school on this account. It is surprising how many there are always to have these contagious diseases and they are around so often too. Donavan Perdieu was the first to take it here; he is said to be improving.

Cleveland Burks is quite sick here.

J. W. Dixon who has been sick since last August is no better; he will undergo an opperation at the Baptist Hospital this week. His friends are anxious about him.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thornhill have a very sick child at this writing.

Success to your paper.

HEIR OF NAPOLEON DISCOVERED IN PARIS

Teacher Is Daughter of Emperor's Son.

Paris.—The granddaughter of Napoleon Bonaparte, first emperor of France, has been discovered living in a tiny cottage, squeezed in among factories and truck gardens, in a suburb of Paris.

She is Madame Mesnard Leon, a retired school teacher, credited with being the only direct living descendant of the famous Corsican. All Bonaparte princes alive today are descended from Napoleon's brothers. Madame Leon is the daughter of the celebrated Count Leon, who was born of the Emperor Napoleon and Mme. Marie de la Plaigne.

"The news of my father's birth was received by Napoleon at Fulton, Pa., when he was preparing the campaign that culminated in the victory of Friedland," said Madame Leon in a press interview. "Napoleon was already thinking of divorcing the childless Empress Josephine, so you can imagine what consequences the news of my father's birth might have had.

"But what could Napoleon do? Nothing. Marriage with my grandmother was out of the question on account of the political situation at that time and the wars abroad. The whole of France might have been threatened."

She then related that Napoleon bestowed the latter half of his name on his child, calling him Count Leon. The child grew up to play a colorful role in the social world of that time and gained a reputation as one of the foremost duelists of France.

Madame Leon also revealed that her only son was killed in the World war at Ifhelnus in 1917 at the age of twenty-one. This was the first indication that a direct descendant of Napoleon took part in the World war.

Madame Mesnard Leon lived a quiet but comfortable life. Since 1923 she has lived at Stains, a suburb of Paris, with her daughter, now grown into womanhood.

Sculptor Asks Burial at Mill Montparnasse

Paris.—An old windmill of Montparnasse may become the final resting place of Emile-Antoine Bourdelle, famous French sculptor, who died some months ago.

A committee of artists is at present investigating the suitability of the mill as a tomb for one of France's greatest sculptors of all time, following the request of his widow that he be interred there. This wasn't while that he had often expressed to his friends, explaining that he wanted to be buried in Montparnasse near the studio where he achieved many of his best works.

Centuries old, this mill is no longer used to grind flour as in the middle of the Eighteenth century when it was the property of the Jesuit order. On the expulsion of the Jesuits in 1762 the building changed hands and its new owners converted part of it into a bistrot where sparkling wines were sold. Now it is a mere storehouse and the great flapping arms which turned in the wind have been stripped off.

In 1824 the ground around the mill became the cemetery of Montparnasse and the mill was used as a home for the grave digger. Since then many unsuccessful attempts have been made to convert it into a historical monument under the care of city authorities.

Special Vaccine Cuts Infant Mortality in Two

Paris.—A special vaccine, reducing the mortality among newly born infants virtually 50 per cent, has been used in 210,000 experimental cases since 1924, Dr. Albert Calmette told the Academy of Science.

So successful have these trails been that Pasteur Institute, of which Doctor Calmette is subdirector, has created a special laboratory for its preparation. It will be distributed free to physicians and midwives.

Eight Mice Are Found With Home in Radio Set

Rahway, N. J.—Many things have come out of radio sets, but Albert G. Avery got a mother mouse and a litter of seven young mice out of his.

Avery started to investigate a short circuit in his set and found that it resulted from the presence of two dead mice which had been electrocuted by the bare wires. The mother and remaining five were comfortably settled in a nest which she had made in the built-in speaker.

Soviet Miners Burn 4,000 Ikons at Meet

Moscow.—In a gigantic anti religious demonstration of 15,000 coal miners in the district of Gorlovka, Don basin, 4,000 ikons were burned in a huge bonfire. The ikons were taken from numerous churches in the district, all of which were ordered closed for worship and will be turned into clubs. The miners proudly sent a telegram about the celebration and bon fire to Joseph Stalin as general secretary of the Communist party.

HOD CARRIER WINS SUCCESS AS ARTIST

Denver Man Drew His First Sketch on Bar.

Denver, Colo.—Twenty years ago a bearded and rugged Westerner took a stub pencil from his pocket, leaned over the counter of a frontier saloon, and reproduced from memory a scene he had witnessed years before in a theater in Cincinnati.

It was Michael Edward O'Brien, standing alone inspired by his first creative mood, while laughter and the fumes of whisky filled the room.

In a little while the sketch was finished—even to the bridge across the Thames. His comrades crowded around, praising his work, though they didn't understand.

Encouraged by Wife.

Today, "Viewing the Oaks," painted by O'Brien, hangs in the Denver Art museum among an exhibit of the work of native Colorado artists. It was the first picture of the exhibit to be sold.

Behind that picture lies the story of an ordinary hod carrier with a family to support, who never shirked his responsibility and never became discouraged.

Those few words of approbation which his comrades had spoken to him of his drawing on the bar spurred him on. His wife encouraged him, although she was busy with the household.

At nights the hod carrier, noted for feats of strength when he was a young man, would go to his home in Denver's most unpretentious residential district and for hours then his work-worn hands would yield to the imaginative power of his inner self.

Paints From Memory.

Because he was forced to work at night many of the tints were not what they should be, and daylight found his work done in vain. He worked on them, however, until they were perfected.

O'Brien never had an education for a background. He paints mostly from memory, which fact, it is said, is responsible for the unusual degree of imaginativeness found in his pictures. Occasionally, his wife says, he goes off to the mountains, but always tears up his sketches when he comes back and paints his scenes from memory.

A few of his pictures have been sold, and these funds have been a genuine relief from the poverty that dogged him for so long.

Museum officials are making an effort to have a special exhibit of his work in recognition for this latest picture, "Viewing the Oaks."

Old Sioux Chief Tells Story of Custer Fight

Washington.—An aged Sioux war chief, survivor of Custer's last stand, gave a new version of the bloody battle between the white man and the red.

Iron White Man, seventy-one, head high and body erect, turned back to his youth to tell of the massacre. He was seventeen then.

The old warrior came here in the name of the Sioux who have sued the government for $300,000,000 in payment for Indian lands taken over for white settlement.

He told his story of the fight:

"One day an old man and a boy, they were Indians, were chased and the boy was killed by Custer's soldiers.

"The soldiers began to shoot on the camp's women and children who were swimming in the creek. Immediately after the warriors rallied their ponies, mounted and they went against the soldiers and the end was that all the soldiers were killed."

England Gets Laurel as Kissing Country

Stockholm, Sweden.—It developed that England was the first great kissing country, for they have discovered that in the early Seventeenth century the ambassador to the court of Sweden, Balstrode Whitelock, was especially requested by the queen to teach her ladies "to kiss after the English fashion," which he did very obligingly, considering that he was a strict Puritan. It is recorded that the pupils offered merely "a few pretty defenses."

A century and more earlier Venetian visitors to England had recorded how the London ladies kissed even their man friends when they met them in the street, and Erasmus himself described the English habit of greeting with a kiss as "praiseworthy beyond description."

Jesuit Gets Plane to Visit Alaskan Missions

Washington.—Brother G. J. Feiter, S. J., Alaskan missionary, has become a "sky pilot" in fact. Superiors have recently obtained a flying license in San Francisco and then came to Washington to "sell" his plan to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Hughes, director of the bureau of Catholic Indian missions. With an airplane, he explained, he could visit the 17 Indian posts in Alaska. As a result Brother Feiter left for New York to purchase a plane, which he will fly to his Alaskan post.

Tokyo.—Police dashed through a cold drizzle at 4 a. m. to the home of Dr. Bunzo Hasegawa, who reported a burglar peering into his window. The "burglar" proved to be a reflection of a picture hung the night before by the doctor's wife.

PERSONAL MENTION

Howlett Martin who has been sick, is out again.

Miss Ann Abbitt visited relatives here last week-end.

Holcombe Mitchell has been sick for several days.

Mrs. M. H. Lawson paid her son, Roland, a visit in Roanoke hospital last Saturday.

Prof. Crawley is having many absentees on account of measles.

Mr. John Martin is sick at his home near Mt. Comfort Church.

Miss Virginia Reynolds, of Amherst, was home last week-end.

Mrs. Lloyd Cates has returned to her home in N. C., after a visit to parents here.

Edward O'Brien is at Johns-Hopkins Hospital for treatment.

Spot Cheatham, one of the oldest colored citizens, died last week.

Samuel M. Morgan lost his ten-year-old girl last Thursday of diabetes.

Misses Frankie McKinney and Earle Patteson spent Saturday in Lynchburg.

Misses Hazel and Virginia Reynolds and Phoebe O'Brien visited in Lynchburg Sunday.

Mrs. J. O. Gordon was summoned to Urbana, Ill, Sunday to attend an ill sister.

Mrs. T. H. Hancock has returned to Lynchburg, after spending several days with relatives here.

Robert Gills had a fall on the ice Thursday and broke his shoulder. His mother who was on a visit in Richmond returned hurriedly to his bedside.

Miss Lucy Evans, of Charlottesville, and Gallie Smith and Thelbert Trent, of North Garden, spent Sunday at the home of C. W. Smith.

Mesdames A. R. Harwood and J. E. Dinwiddie will be joint hostesses at the Harwood home, of W. C. T. U. monthly meeting Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The White Front chain store is in operation at Appomattox with Kennard Gills in charge. So when you come to town don't fail to visit southside of railroad.

Dr. Christian prepared for the mud roads by adding high wheels to his Chevrolet, which takes him to all parts of the county over all sorts of mud roads.

The Wagers Desk Factory has leased the two-story brick building of E. T. Price, Southside of railroad and the building is being conditioned, and machinery being brought in and renewed activity will begin with the plant in a few days. Mr. Wagers says the plant is behind on its orders and the force will be increased.

J. L. Freeman and family, of Illinois, landed here Tuesday with a car of farming and household goods. Some years ago Mr. Freeman bought the Brausner place at old C. H. from Senator Ferguson and is now moving to begin his farming operations. We welcome Mr. Freeman and his family to our midst and trust others will follow him.

WOODLAND

What a snow we saw last Thursday morning as we arose from our slumber. It made us think of Lowell's poem, "The First Snow-fall".

The snow had begun in the gloaming,
And busily all the night
Had been heaping field and highway,
With a silence deep and white.

Every pine and fir and hemlock,
Wore ermine too dear for an earl,
And the poorest twig on the elm tree
Was ridged inch-deep with pearl.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Eldridge Chestham opened pathways to several homes with his one-horse sleigh and on Saturday morning Mr. Johnnie Poe opened up the entire road from his home to the highway with his two-horse sleigh. Now thats what I call a fine spirit for any community to possess.

Miss Hamner Coleman, of Lynchburg, was the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Coleman.

Miss Catherine Caldwell returned to her school here after a week-end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Caldwell.

Misses Eris Poe and Beatrice Woodson were the guests of Miss Mary Woodson last Wednesday night.

Mr. Russell Woodson was the week-end guest of Mr. Huston Reames, of Charlottesville.

Misses Bernice Woodson, Frances and Helen Marshall and Mr. Paul Woodson have all recovered from measles. Miss Mildred Marshall is now ill with measles.

Mr. Huston Reames and Miss Virginia Woodson were guests of Miss Mary Woodson Sunday afternoon.

The remains of Mr. Mose Hunter were laid to rest in the Reedy Springs church cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Hunter was reared in this community and he leaves a host of friends, who will miss him. We wish to extend our heartfelt sympathy to his wife and children and pray that God's richest blessings may always be with them.

HIXBURG

The old saying that if the ground hog sees his shadow on Feb. 2nd, the next six weeks will be bad weather; may simply be proverbial saying, but cognizance of his hogship is being wonderfully displayed by our school truck. I am sure that after one more year of such weather, we will all agree that John Lewis was not so bad after all. There has been no preaching at the Baptist church here for the past three months and bad weather prevented Mr. Redding from filling his appointment here on last Sunday in the Presbyterian church.

Most of our farmers are about through selling tobacco, some of which got very satisfactory prices, while some are complaining right much for some grades.

Our tobacco growers recently called to see the writer as to his views on the cooperative selling plan, no cooperative plan will ever be made to hold good until all that did not sign before, sign ironclad and that none of the old officers that played fox and hound be given any position again by the new concern. Now it takes a salesman to sell a man something he does not want; but a bigger and more misleading statement could not be made of such a commodity as tobacco. Who ever heard of a man going into a cave for sunshine or a lady going to a wheelright for a piano. Tobacco manufacturers know practically where every ton of raw tobacco is stored, some of them may tell you they have enough to last them for the next 5 to 8 years. Such talk as that is good reason to believe that they will soon want a new stock. Now as a former co-op. I can say for 90 per cent of Hixburg union, lets have the management clean and the victory is won so far as a sign up is concerned.

Mr. Editor, quite a lot of us farmers are endeavoring to form a protective game association, we have plenty of birds and a number of fine wild turkeys, we want some stock pheasants and can offer the government about a 5 to 8 thousand acre range. We are anxious to have our game given better protection. Please write us such information as will enable us to get this through at your earliest opportunity.

Now that old Mr. Isaac Doble is married surely some of the younger ones need not to feel that they are doomed to bachlorhood.

Mr. S. Baxter Davis is on a visit to his son in Jacksonville, Fla.

Miss Annie Rosser, of Pamplin is spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. J. H. McCue, and Miss Elene Rosser is visiting several days with Miss Sadys Swan.

Haynes—Hundley

Mrs. Ann W. Hundley, of Lynchburg, has announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Roselle Hundley, to Dr. Theodore Brevard Haynes, of Columbia, S. C., which took place January 23. The bride has been attached for several years to the staff of the Gorgas Hospital at Ancon, Panama Canal Zone. She is the daughter of Mrs. Hundley and the late Jason C. Hundley, of Washington

Dr. Haynes is a graduate of the University of South Carolina and a member of the staff of the Rockefeller foundation. He has been doing research work for the last year in Nigeria, West Africa, and after an extended wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Haynes will sail March 15 for Lagos, Nigeria, where the groom is stationed for the present.

The bride was a school girl here for years and lived here with her mother until the family moved to Lynchburg. She was quite popular here among her young associates.

Gobble—Goin

Farmville, Jan. 30—Miss Janie Goin was married to Isaac Gobble, of Hixburg, Wednesday, January 29. Dr. Cecil Y. Cook, pastor of the Farmville Baptist Church performing the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Gobble will live in Hixburg, where the groom is engaged in farming.

Wm. Evans Gannaway

Died at his home in Miami, Florida, on January 23, 1930, William Evans Gannaway, son of Mary and Richard Woodson Gannaway, of Buckingham County, Virginia. The interment was made in Albany, Ga. Mr. Gannaway is survived by his wife, a brother, D. M. Gannaway, and one sister, Mrs. Miller J. Shepard, who was with him in his fatal illness.

The Miami (Fla.) Herald of Jan. 24, said:

"W. E. Gannaway, 64, president of the real estate firm of Gannaway and Peed, Inc., died last night in Jackson Memorial hospital following a brief illness.

Mr Gannaway was a native of Buckingham county, Va., and during his early manhood was a commission merchant in Lynchburg, Va. In 1886 he became associated with the Central Georgia Railway and later engaged in the cotton warehouse business in Albany, Ga., where he resided until he came to Miami in 1923.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Annie Gannaway, of Miami; a brother, D. N. Gannaway, and a sister, Mrs. M. J. Shepard, of Buckingham, Va.

Funeral services will be conducted today in the W. H. Combs Funeral Home by Rev. Walt Holcomb, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, of which Mr. Gannaway was a member. The body will be sent to Albany, Ga., for burial."

Charles Daniel Ferguson

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear brother, Charles Daniel Ferguson, who died January 6, 1930. He leaves to mourn their loss father, two brothers and six sisters: Mr. S. A. and C. P. Ferguson, Mrs. M. L. Baldwin, Mrs. J. M. Buckman, Mrs. Bettie Williams, Mrs. Jennie Davis, Mrs. Ada Davis and Mrs. Laura Baldwin.

Gone is the one we loved to hear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
'Tis sad but true, we wonder why,
The best are always first to die.
He little thought when leaving home
That he never would return,
That he so soon in death should sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

SISTERS and BROTHERS.

The Moon

There is a wonderful moon —high up in the air, she is so bright and clear as I stand and watch it go. It looks like a ball of gold flying in the sky. As I go to bed at night I see it shining up there so bright like a ball of fire, and some times I look for the ball of gold, but it is not there—little stars have taken her place; but the big round ball God put there for us to see by at night.

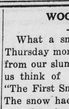
Favorite Bible Passages Of

Clyde M. Reed
Governor of Kansas.



Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets. Matthew 7:12.

Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.—Matthew 7:5.

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want.—Psalm 23:1.

Comment: You may search the pages of the Old and New Testaments and you will find nothing comparable in hope, comfort and wisdom, with the Twenty-third Psalm and Christ's Sermon on the Mount. These have inspired mankind in life and have comforted and consoled in the hour of death. No other chapter in the Bible has been committed to memory by so many people as the Twenty-third Psalm. "The Lord's Prayer, a part of Christ's sermon on the mount, has been lisped by countless millions. It was taught to by our mothers in childhood. We have repeated it time innumerable. It is an supplication that all humanity invokes. It is the world's expression of gratitude and divine blessing. It is the anchor of our hope in the Kingdom God has promised his children.

Changes Adopted Name to Former Jaw-Breaker

Los Angeles.—Rather than to be known as "What-Is-His-Name," persons with cognomens difficult to pronounce often have the courts change them to something easier on the tongue, ears and memory. Not so with George Curtis Stanton. He has had the Superior court cancel the name he adopted when naturalized in 1914 and restore his original one—Ojura Stojans. Stojans, who is an artist, inferred that Americans would regard the works of a Ojura Stojans more highly than the products of the brush of a George Curtis Stanton.

Expression of Thanks

With sincere gratitude I wish to thank every individual who so willingly worked to save our home. It is a privilege and pleasure to live in the midst of such self-sacrificing friends.
